HAS A PETRIFIED WATERFALL

One of the Natural Wonders of the World That is Located in Country of Algeria.

With all the beauty of a cataract of living water, there is in Algeria a remarkable petrified waterfall which recently has been engaging the attention of scientists. This is the Hamam-Meskutin, which means "The bath of the damned," and is located 62 miles from Constantine. This solidified cascade is the production of calcareous deposits from sulphurous and ferruginous mineral springs, issuing from the depths of the earth at a temperature of 95 degrees centigrade.

"The bath of the damned," even from a near viewpoint, looks for all the world like a great wall of water dashing into a swirling pool at its foot, yet its gleaming, graceful curves and the apparently swirling eddies at its base are as fixed and immovable as if carved from the face of a granite cliff.

Many centuries have, of course, gone to the making of the deposits, and the springs were well known to the ancient Romans. The name Hamam-Meskutin was given to the stone cataract in an allusion to a legend that the waterfall was petrified by Allah, punishing the impiety of unbelievers by turning all the members of the tribe into stone. At night, so the story runs, its stone dwellers of the remote ages are freed from their strange fetters, come to life and resume their normal shapes.

Lessons in Housekeeping.
A young girl of fourteen whom I know plans and cooks the dinner at home one evening of each week, and her mother stays away from the kitchen entirely on this afternoon. The girl's father gives her a small amount of money in the morning before he leaves home, and she does the marketing with this sum. The event is anticipated with great pleasure by all the members of the family as well as by the little cook, and the nourishing and appetizing dinner she serves is certainly surprisingly good.—Woman's Home Companion.

A Negative Merit.
She—Have you any strawberries?
Dealer—Yes'm. Here they are, a quarter a box.
She—Goodness! They're miserable looking, and so green.
Dealer—I know, mum, but there ain't enough in a box to do you any harm.

Most Intensive.
"Do you believe in intensive gardening, Mrs. Hoerake?" asked the visitor.
"Well, rather," said Mrs. Hoerake. "I spent all last winter raising one geranium in a soap box."—Harper's Weekly.

DETECTIVES HUNT MISSING HEIRESS

SEVENTEEN-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER OF GAIL BORDEN, MILLION-AIRE MILK DEALER.

HAS PROBABLY BEEN KIDNAPPED

Disappeared From Sanitarium in New Jersey—Reported Private Detectives Have Found Girl But Await Charges Against Alleged Kidnapers.

New York, April 26.—The New York police department officially began today a systematic search for Romona Borden, the 17-year-old daughter of Gail Borden, millionaire milk dealer. Mr. Borden himself asked the police to take up the case and held a long conference with detectives shortly after midnight.

Various but vague are the clues to the young woman's whereabouts. Reported yesterday to have returned to the New Jersey sanitarium where she disappeared Thursday afternoon it now appears that the statement of her return was one of expediency on the part of the sanitarium authorities and it is understood that Mr. Borden nor the family physician nor Mr. Borden's lawyers has the slightest idea where she is.

A girl answering in many ways the description of Miss Borden sailed from New York yesterday on the liner Cincinnati. Mr. Borden said he believed his daughter was either in this city or nearby and, that, if necessary, he would hunt for her all over the world. "Some one will pay dearly for this," said the father. "I know that my daughter is not back at the sanitarium and I am pretty positive that she has not gone abroad."

BRYAN WILL HURRY BACK.

Will Make Conference in Sacramento
as Short as Possible.

Chicago, April 26.—"I shall return to Washington from Sacramento as soon as I possibly can," Secretary of State Bryan said tonight, as he boarded a Northwestern train for California. "I cannot forecast how long my absence may be, but I hope it will be short. I ought to be in Washington."

Mr. Bryan declined to make a statement in connection with the coming conference with Governor Johnson and the California legislature. "My message," he said in answer to a question, "is, as far as my memory goes, without precedent. We may create precedents in our conferences but it would not do to speak of them in advance."

That the secretary will have a hospitable welcome in California was shown today by five invitations he had to address public meetings in San Francisco and Sacramento.

Mr. Bryan said that he had been obliged to decline the invitations from San Francisco and there was no likelihood that he would be able to speak there.

"I replied to the gentlemen in Sacramento that I had been dispatched by the president to confer with the governor and legislature of their state," Mr. Bryan said, "and under this circumstance, while I appreciated their invitation, I did not deem it proper for me to make any speaking engagements."

He added that as representative of the president he had never doubted a cordial welcome from California.

Bryce's Adieu to United States.

New York, April 26.—James Bryce, on the eve of his departure for home after six years as ambassador to the United States from Great Britain, said his farewell to the American people tonight in an address here before the Pilgrims' society of the United States. He referred with feeling to his cordial relations with the three presidents who had been in office during his service in Washington and said he had no words to convey his sense of the kindness with which he had been received.

Reno Crowded During Last Days.

Reno, April 26.—The last days and death of the notable divorce colony in Nevada, which is destined to occur by provisions of new law within a few months, is evidently to be made memorable by scenes of activities and extent of members, in the final rush, unprecedented in history of this unique and remarkable aggregation of temporary residents. Reno today is housing more than 1,000 such people here for what has commonly become known as the "cure."

Does Backache Worry You?

Many who suffer with backache and weak kidneys are unnaturally irritable and fretful. Bad kidneys fail to eliminate all the uric acid from the system, keeping you "on edge" and causing rheumatic, neuralgia pains.

When your back aches, and you notice signs of bladder irregularities, suspect your kidneys and begin using Doan's Kidney Pills, the best recommended special kidney remedy.

An Arkansas Case

Mrs. Joseph Cross, Church St., Morrilton, Ark., says: "For weeks I was all over with pain, because so dicky I had to keep from falling and my ankles were swollen to nearly twice their natural size. None of the doctors understood my case and I felt myself sinking lower day by day. Improved rapidly through the use of Doan's Kidney Pills and before long was entirely cured."

Temptation.

Representative Solomon Francis Prouty of the Seventh district of Illinois is the only man in the house of representatives who chews gum, and he chews it with a remarkable avidity. He took the gum habit after a conference of Iowa physicians had warned him that he must either stop smoking or fill a grave. They suggested chewing gum as a substitute for his Lady Nicotine.

The only time he has smoked in ten years was on a hot day last summer while out campaigning. He stopped to talk with an old farmer who was puffing at a corn cob pipe. The smoke got into Representative Prouty's nose, and as soon as he reached town he rushed into his office, grabbed his secretary by the arm, and almost shouted:

"For goodness sake dig out that pipe of yours and give me a puff! Look the doors and keep every man out who looks like a doctor. I've got to smoke or bust!"—Washington Star.

Get Paid for Bathing.

To promote health and comfort among their 700 employees, Harrison Bros. & Co. of this city, have offered to give every man employed at their plant 15 cents each time he takes a bath.

There are no strings to the offer. All that is necessary is that the bath be taken in the elaborately fitted bath-rooms of the concern. As soon as a workman finishes bathing he will receive a check from an attendant, and on pay day he may have the checks cashed at the rate of 15 cents apiece.

The idea was suggested by Dr. Francis D. Patterson, former chief police surgeon of this city, whom the company has secured to look after the welfare of the men. Dr. Patterson is an old University of Pennsylvania football player and oarsman.—Philadelphia Dispatch to New York Tribune.

Made the Indian Chief Understand.

A Kansas City minister, visiting an Indian reservation in Idaho, inquired of a government agent when the missionary could be found.

"The chief can probably tell you," replied the agent, pointing out his tent. "Clasp your hands, look heavenward and ask, 'Jesus man?' He will understand you, doubtless."

The reverend gentleman did as directed.

"I presume you are seeking the missionary?" replied the Indian in excellent English. "Please be seated, sir, he will be in presently. If you will excuse me I will go down to the agency and lambast into unconsciousness that fool clerk who directed you here."

HANDS ITCHED AND BURNED

Abbotsford, Wis.—"My son had eczema on his hands for about one year. The eczema started with a rash. His hands were sore so he could not close them, and when he wet his hands they hurt him so he could hardly wash. His hands itched and burned just terrible and if he would scratch them, they would break out into sores. He could not get any rest or sleep, and his hands looked quite bad.

"We had medicine and salve and it kept getting worse all the time. I got some Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after washing his hands with the Cuticura Soap and putting some of the Cuticura Ointment on two times a day and tying cloths on them for about six months they got well and have not broken out since. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured him entirely." (Signed) Mrs. Lawrence Kiehl, Feb. 13, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

Both True.

"I heard quite a paradoxical remark the other day."

"What was it?"

"That though there is no excuse for crime, there is generally a warrant for it."

Quite Apparent.

"Do theatrical angels have wings?"

"Certainly. That is how their money flies."

Keeper of Secrets of Kings.
Lord Knollys, who is retiring, after having been private secretary to King George and the late King Edward, has received many tempting offers to write his autobiography, but, needless to say, has steadfastly resisted them all. An enterprising publisher, from the United States, once ran him down during his vacation, and placed a blank check before him, inviting him to fill it in for any sum he liked to name in return for a book of no fewer than 50,000 words.

"My terms would be five million dollars," Lord Knollys remarked, quietly. The publisher gasped. "Good gracious, sir, are you serious?" he asked. "Quite," Lord Knollys rejoined, and then, with one of his merry twinkles of his eyes, he said:

"Would it not be worth a good deal more to you if I had to say frankly all I know?"

The publisher realized the force of the argument, and was bound to admit that it would be a hopeless task to induce an indiscretion on the part of the veteran courtier.

Exceptions.
He—Must stolen goods always be restored?
She—Certainly.
He—All right. Will you now take back the kiss I stole last night?
